Updates for Awesome People Like You!

Dear My Favorite Subscriber,

I'm so glad you're here.

Of all the millions of things you could read on the internet, you chose to read this newsletter that I wrote. Just to you.

So now the pressure's on me to show you that you've made the right choice.

But clearly, how could someone as intelligent as you have made the wrong choice?

For you there are no wrong turns, only imaginary roads where the potholes repair themselves.

And there are no tall mountains, only mountains that are not tall enough.

And there are no boring newsletters, only newsletters that talk nonsensically about potholes and mountains.

And that brings me to my main point.

Which I'm sure you already know.

Because of your superior intuition and excellent choice in footwear.

The point is this: nevermind what I'm talking about.

Just know that you are my favorite subscriber and no matter how much more superior to me you become, you will always be my favorite subscriber.

Here are your "Austin Events 2018 wall calendar" updates for March and April.

You are the best!
Mike
